

Stainless Steel Sinks

About Stainless Steel Sinks

The growing popularity of stainless steel in modern homes has been recognized by Polaris, which is why we are continuously adding new sink models and expanding our stainless steel line. The superior 304-grade steel used in the Polaris stainless steel line of sinks can be molded and formed into many variant sink designs, making it one of the most valuable types of sink material on the market. Polaris has taken advantage of this property and offers numerous diverse styles of stainless steel sinks.
