

Screen Doors - Installing

Installing your screen door

Decide which side you want the door to open - right or left - to determine where you'll put the hinges and handle. Position the hinges on the door and the door jamb, and mark with the pencil where you want to insert the screw. Double check that the hinges are facing in the right direction to open correctly, then screw in the hinges to the door. Place the door in the opening, and screw the hinges into the door jamb.

Install the handle or knob by first marking the position on the door with a pencil. Then screw in the handle or the knob. Install an automatic door closer if not using the self-closing hinges. Test the door to make sure it opens correctly.
