

DOUBLE INSULATION

In a double-insulated appliance, two systems of insulation are provided instead of grounding. No grounding means is provided on double-insulated appliance, nor should a means for grounding be added to the appliance. Servicing a double-insulated appliance requires extreme care and knowledge of the system, and should only be carried out by qualified service personnel. Replacement parts for a double-insulated appliance must be identical to the parts they replace. This double-insulated appliance is marked with the DOUBLE-INSULATED or DOUBLE-INSULATION symbol.
