

Manufacturer's Warranty-Bamboo Fencing

The manufacturer offers a one year warranty on bamboo fencing products covering only the structural integrity of each product. We always recommend applying a good quality, uv-resistant wood finish to your bamboo.

The manufacturer is not responsible for the conditions listed below.

- Bamboo will naturally age to a grey-silvery color. This aging can be prolonged by maintaining your bamboo just as you maintain any outdoor or wood product. Use a good quality oil-based deck sealer that is UV resistant.
- There are rare instances that mildew will develop in wet weather causing a mold-like substance to appear on your bamboo. In this case, use a 1 part bleach, and 3 part water solution to clean. Use a spray bottle to spray solution onto the fence. Leave on for 20 minutes, and rub with a green Scotch Brite pad, then rinse with a pressure washer if available. This is better done on a warm day. Allow the bamboo to dry before applying any good quality UV resistant, oil-based wood finish (preferably with a fungicide) available in the paint department at your local hardware store.
- Bamboo may also crack or split. This is a natural process and does not affect the integrity of the bamboo.
- The manufacturer does not guarantee the physical consistency or the size of our bamboo fencing.
- Fencing products are bound together with galvanized wire which will show signs of rust over an extended period.
- Mahogany colored bamboos are recommended for indoor use and will show signs of fading due to the product being stained.

Based on the limited warranty conditions listed above, the manufacturer's ultimate goal is to provide the finest bamboo products available.
