

The Science of Sealing

High Performance Sealers

- Prevent a variety of stains – both oil and water-based
- Allow MVT (Moisture Vapor Transmission)
- Provides time to react to stains and spills

Premium sealers contain higher quality active ingredients than their more economical counterparts, delivering complete coverage of the gaps in the stone to provide better stain resistance, regardless of porosity and density.

Penetrating, water-based sealers offer excellent protection for stone with water as the carrier.

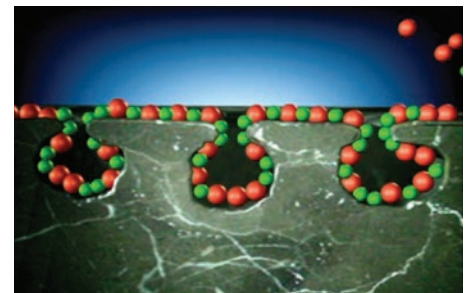

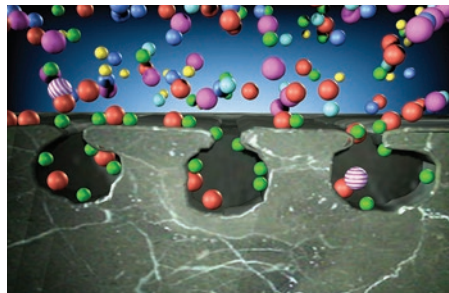

Solvent-based sealers protect and penetrate with solvent-based carriers.

The choice between a water-based and solvent-based sealer is a matter of intended application. As long as both are premium sealers, they will offer maximum levels of protection.

Penetrating Sealers

Active ingredients, or solids, bond with stone and fill in the gaps, or pores, to penetrate the surface. What doesn't penetrate the surface gets wiped away.

Microscopic Detail

Illustration shows Penetrating Sealer as if under powerful magnification. Note the various sealing molecules that penetrate and bond to the stone's surface.
