ABOUT COPPER SINKS

René copper sinks are crafted from 99% pure mined copper, and are free from additional metals and scraps. Because copper is naturally antibacterial and will not run or stain, the composition of these sinks makes them easy to maintain.

After the copper is mined through an extensive extraction process, our sinks are made using a one-piece construction process, giving you the strongest sink possible. The hand-hammered texture of each sink helps to conceal minor scratches that may occur over the lifetime of the sink. The finished product is fully insulated with sound-dampening pads to ensure your ultimate satisfaction.
