Problem	Possible Cause	Solution
The solar light does not turn on at night or the amount of time that it operates during the night is shorter.	The battery is not fully charged.	Ensure the solar light is located in an area where it can receive the maximum amount of full, direct sunlight everyday. If the solar light does not receive enough sunlight during a day (e.g. due to cloudy or overcast weather conditions), it will be recharged on the next sunny day and resume normal operation. Keeping the solar panel clean is
	The solar light is installed close to other light sources which are causing the photocell to turn the fixture off.	Relocate the fixture to a place with no other light sources, or remove the other light sources from the fixture location.
	The battery is reaching the end of its useful life.	Replace the rechargeable battery with a rechargeable battery that has a similar rating and type. Do not use a non-rechargeable battery.
	There is not enough direct sunlight.	Ensure the solar light is not installed in a shaded area, such as in the shadows or trees or a house.
	The pull tab may not be fully removed from the battery compartment.	Remove the battery, and verify that the pull tab is completely removed.
